

COOPER ABROAD WITH A BRIDE

First District Congressman Is Quietly Wedded in New York City.

IT IS A SURPRISE

Kept His Plans to Himself—Merely Sent a Brief Message to Racine.

BRIDE WELL KNOWN

Racine, Wis., July 29.—The name of Mr. Cooper's bride previous to her marriage was Miss Sarah Cooper Phillips, a resident of New York City, favorably known in New York and Washington society.

Mr. Cooper met his bride about five years ago while in the Eastern Metropolis. Two years ago she visited the home of Mrs. Florence Hall, Mr. Cooper's sister, who resides in the town of Burlington, Racine county.

She is a blonde about thirty-three years of age and is very handsome. They will return to this after spending a portion of their honeymoon, about six weeks, abroad. It seems that Mrs. Cooper's mother married twice, her last husband being named Phillip. Then Mrs. Cooper added the name of Phillip to Cooper making it Cooper-Phillip.

Racine, Wis., July.—Congressman Henry A. Cooper of this city, chairman of the insular affairs committee of the house, and one of the most conspicuous members of the Wisconsin delegation in congress, gave his friends here a complete surprise in a brief telegraphic message yesterday saying that he was married in New York Saturday, and that he and his bride had sailed for Europe, where they would spend their honeymoon, and would remain for several weeks.

His Bride Is Unknown

Not one of Mr. Cooper's friends here, so far as could be learned today, had been taken into his confidence. Even his law partners, it is said, had been given no intimation of the congressman's intentions. Mr. Cooper did not say in his message who his bride was, and no one here was willing to make a guess for publication, although one of his friends did say that he believed that he knew.

As he was not certain he declined to mention the lady's name. Others guessed that the bride was an accomplished widow to whom Mr. Cooper had paid much attention. Mr. Cooper did not even explain just where he was married or by whom, and his friends in New York, could find no trace of him at any of the hotels.

It is supposed that he sailed with his bride Saturday as the dispatch indicated.

Was A Complete Surprise

Mr. Cooper left Racine on July 20, saying that he would spend a few days at the Buffalo exposition, and might go to New York City. He told his law partners that he would return in a few weeks. He gave no intimation of the interesting event he evidently had in contemplation, and the announcement of his marriage will be a complete surprise to his acquaintances here, as it was to the few friends who heard of it today.

Henry Allen Cooper or "Hal" Cooper as he is familiarly called by his constituents, is the senior member of the law firm of Cooper, Nelson Simmons and Walker. He was the only bachelor member of the Badger delegation and although at times there have been reports that he was to marry a well-known lady of this city, they have proved to be only reports, and his friends came to look upon him as a confirmed bachelor.

Has Held Many Offices

Mr. Cooper has held many public offices. He first came into prominence in 1887, when he was elected state senator. In 1893 he was the candidate of the republicans of the First district for congress and was defeated by a large majority. He has retained his seat in that body and at the last election had a plurality of 14,000 votes, his opponent being Gilbert T. Hodge. In congress his reputation has steadily grown and, as chairman of the insular committee of the house, he has had an important part in shaping legislation for our new possessions.

Several months ago he visited Porto Rico and Cuba to inform himself as to the condition of the islanders. In the famous postoffice fight a few years ago, Mr. Cooper, by appointing Jackson I. Case postmaster, incurred the enmity of the Racine Daily Journal, the editor of which was an aspirant for the office. An effort was made to turn the delegates from Mr. Cooper at the next convention without success. He had too strong a hold upon the regard of the people of this county and other parts of the district, and there are few men in Racine who are more popular, and his honesty and ability in public life have won for him the esteem and affection of his constituents.

EDITOR OVERCOME BY SMOKE.

Office of the Sun Prairie Sun Destroyed By an Incendiary. Sun Prairie, Wis., July 29.—The office of the Sun Prairie Sun was destroyed by fire, thought to be of incendiary origin, last night. Editor W. W. Hammond attempted to enter the burning building to save the books, but was overcome by the smoke. He was carried out and is now in a critical condition. The loss is about $500.

FEARS A SPREAD OF THE PLAGUE

Dr. Kempster of Milwaukee, Fears That the Dreaded Black Plague Will Be Seen Here.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.—Dr. Kempster of this city, who was sent abroad by the Harrison administration to make a study of the bubonic plague agrees with Dr. J. B. Henty of Indianapolis that the country will be swept by the plague before long unless extreme measures are taken to prevent its spread of the scourge. The state board of health also fears the spread of the plague.

Dr. Kempster said today that the way the officials at San Francisco, from supreme court judges down, had acted was little short of criminal. The plague had fastened itself there and had now appeared in New York, and it was only a matter of a short time before it would make its appearance in the interior of the country. The time to prevent the spread was now, when active steps ought to be taken to kill it.

Dr. Wingate said the plague would probably make its first appearance in Chicago, and from there spread throughout the surrounding cities. He said that Milwaukee would probably get it through vessels on which rats would carry the disease. Like Dr. Kempster, he thought the severest measures ought to be taken at once with a view of preventing the spread of the plague if possible.

NEED PREACHERS IN BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Pastors in the City of Churches Neglect Their Charges by Going on Vacations.

New York, July 29.—A most remarkable condition prevails in Brooklyn, the City of Churches. There is a famine of preachers. Funerals have to be postponed. There are few baptisms, and justices of the peace and aldermen are doing most of the marrying. The parsons are in the woods and near the sea, more than half the churches closed, while the remainder have for the most part substitutes.

A few of the congregations have united for the summer. There have been a few complaints by church members, who say that their churches have been left uncovered, and that a call for a preacher is like calling for water in a desert. Cases have been reported where members of churches have been most seriously ill and have needed the consolation of a minister, and have not been able to get it without delay, and then often from members of a denomination other than the church to which they belong.

Only a few days ago the son of a prominent merchant died, and his father called at the residences of four clergymen in the neighborhood to perform the funeral services, but found all of them out of town.

WHIST PLAYERS AT MILWAUKEE

Eleventh Annual Congress Opens in the Cream City Today for a Six Days' Session.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.—Whist players from all parts of the country are gathering in Milwaukee to attend the eleventh annual congress, which opens at the Hotel Pfister tomorrow, to continue until Saturday. Already about one hundred members have arrived, and when the playing begins on Tuesday, it is expected that between 300 and 400 devotees of the "silent" game will be on hand. Among the prominent arrivals are President Dr. Joseph S. Neff of Philadelphia, vice president P. J. Torney of San Francisco, Secretary Fry of Chicago. Corresponding Secretary Cooper of Shelbyville, Tenn., and Treasurer John T. Mitchell of Chicago.

DROUTH IN CORN BELT IS BROKEN; HEAVY RAINS FELL FOR HOURS

Iowa Crop is Saved—The Downpour Was General Throughout Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, and Other States—Stockraisers Are Happy.

The great drought in the corn belt is broken. Drenching rains falling steadily for hours yesterday and last night redeemed the parched fields and in a large section the grain from the withering sun and wind of the last forty days. The clouds broke over the southwestern states early yesterday morning and the rain came down in torrents in places and in grizzling continuous showers in others. Weather officials and crop experts agree that the dry spell is gone.

The corn crop of Iowa is saved, and in other western states, where the stalks have been fired and hope abandoned for a harvest, the rain has assured a big crop of late feed. This will mean wonders for stock raisers and will check the sale of stock materially.

The rain was general throughout Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas. Here and there it was accompanied by thunderstorms, and in these spots the water covered the fields. Elsewhere, undisturbed by heavy winds, it had time to soak into the soil and be absorbed. In Kansas the stock raisers were most benefited, for by reliable reports the corn has suffered so much from the drought that it had been given up as practically a total loss. The farmers of the western half of the state agree that the stalks had been fired for a foot above the ground and that all of yesterday's rain and all that may come cannot revive. But the rush for turnip corn, turnip, buckwheat and other seeds has already begun. This will be drilled in between the rows and insures a good crop of late feed after the corn is harvested.

ENTHUSIASM AT A CAMP MEETING

Frenzied Worshippers Tear Off Their Ornaments and Throw Them in Contribution Basket.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 29.—Frenzied worshippers, some of them shrieking aloud in their religious excitement, tore rings from their fingers and watches and jewelry from their clothing and cast them at the feet of President A. B. Simpson of New York, head of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, at the alliance camp meeting at Euclid Park yesterday.

Similar scenes at previous annual gatherings of this sect were outdone. The excitement among the 5,000 at the meeting under the impassioned appeals of the president was boundless. A newsboy gave $8. An aged woman who said that she was deaf, gave $5. She was blind and attended the meeting in hope of a divine healing of the disease of her eyes, so that she can continue to make a living by washing. One woman flung her watch through the air towards the platform on which the president stood.

In addition to the jewelry $12,700 was collected at the afternoon meeting and another large sum this evening. Some one whose name was kept secret gave $3,000. "Here's my Pan-American trip," shouted one man as he thrust a roll of bills into one of the bushel baskets used for receiving contributions. The gifts were greeted with cheers of "Praise the Lord" and similar exclamations. Much valuable jewelry was given this not being included in the total of $12,000. The announcement was made that only solid gold and genuine gem jewelry was wanted.

Say She Is the Messiah

New York, July 29.—There is a woman in New York, young and good-looking, who proclaims that she is the Messiah. To her hearers she promises rewards on earth through more harmonious "conditions" and alternately threatens them with severe punishment in the present state by "vibrations" from her own personality. She is Hanna Stafford. Her strange sermons are the sermons of the basement, for it is in that lowly quarter of the house she chooses to preach to "her people" on Wednesday and Friday nights.

Cuts Throat With Razor

New York, July 29.—Lewis S. Silva, an exporter of machinery, was found dead today in the smoking room of his apartment at 17 West Eighty-fourth street. His throat had been cut with a razor which lay open on the rug beside the body. It is believed he committed suicide from melancholy over financial losses.

BIG FLOOD SWEEPS COLORADO.

Damage to Ranches, Stock and Growing Crops Will Reach $40,000.

Grippe Creek, Col., July 29.—A flood which left destruction in its wake coursed over fifty miles of territory, starting at the head of West Four-Mile creek by a cloudburst and extending through the valley to a point below Canon City.

The damage will reach over $40,000, including the loss to ranches, stock, growing crops and country roads in Fremont, Park and Teller counties. Many ranches are entirely swept away and a number of people are reported to be homeless. Heavy rains in this section made worse by a cloudburst are the cause of the flood. No fatalities have as yet been reported.

Miss Belle Charley who has been attending the teachers' institute in this city, returned to her home in the town of Magnolia Saturday.

GREAT SLAUGHTER OF ARMY BRIGANDS

Over Six Hundred Chinese Killed at Tonkin by the French and Chinese Troops.

Tacoma, July 29.—Chinese army brigands who recently invaded Northern Tonkin met with a terrible fate, according to steamer advices. The French and Chinese troops surrounding them in a narrow valley, killing six hundred. Two thousand survivors fled into the mountains, but many of the men were killed and others have died of starvation.

WALL STREET SAYS STRIKE IS OVER

Probable That Steel Magnates and the Labor Leaders Have Reached an Agreement.

New York, July 29.—At the office of the steel trust today the strike is regarded as being virtually at an end and the term of continued idleness depends wholly on the time required for the ratification of the terms of settlement. Wall street says the trouble is at an end.

Pittsburg, July 29.—The officials of the Amalgamated Association still decline to discuss the prospective strike settlement beyond saying that a meeting of the general executive committee has been called for Tuesday in this city, when important business will be discussed. Later in the day a meeting of both sides of the controversy will be held.

SAMPSON GIVES LIGHT.

Admiral Tells Why He Started for Siboney.

New York, July 28.—A special to the Herald from Boston says: The Herald correspondent has obtained an authorized interview with Rear Admiral Sampson upon the points in controversy as a result of the Santiago campaign. The questions and answers which follow were transcribed and the typewritten copy of the interview submitted to the admiral for correction:

"Admiral, you have been severely criticised of late for starting to Siboney on the morning of the Santiago battle. What was your reason for so doing?" was asked.

"I went to Siboney upon the urgent request of Maj. Gen. Shafter, who had demanded a council of war. He being ill at the time and, moreover, being senior to me, it was incumbent upon me to go to him. I chose the time of day when it seemed least likely that Cervera's fleet would come out of the harbor. This opinion is substantiated by the fact that Cervera has been severely criticised for choosing this most inopportune time, rather than waiting until just before dark, when he would have had an opportunity to scatter his ships, with a good chance of some escaping in the darkness."

BOY DROWNED FOR 48 CENTS.

Michigan Children Take the Life of One of Their Companions.

Alpena, Mich., July 29.—Harry Nelson, a boy of 8 years, has confessed that Cyrus Larke, the 8-year-old son of S. D. Larke, editor of the Rogers City Advance, was drowned by his playmates, who wanted 48 cents which he possessed. According to the Nelson boy, young Larke, in the company of the 9-year-old son of Prosecuting Attorney Reed, Nelson, and several other boys about the same age, were playing near the Koett Schoer mill boom on Tuesday afternoon. Reed seemed to be the leader among the boys. Young Larke was urged to climb down to the water and go out on a pier. He objected, saying his parents had ordered him never to venture on the piers or go near the booms. He was finally persuaded and accompanied the boys. Young Nelson says he remained behind, but watched the boys. He says Reed and his companions led young Larke out from the pier on to one of the boom sticks, and, after forcing him to give them the money which he had in his pockets, they pushed him off the boom into the water.

LAND RAFFLE AT EL RENO TODAY

A Great Crowd Attending the Government Drawing for Farming Tracts.

HOW RAFFLE IS RUN

Only One Application in Thirteen Can Win One of the Coveted Prizes.

TROUBLE LOOMING UP

El Reno, O. T., July 29.—The land drawing began promptly at 9 o'clock this morning. It is a novel scheme by which Uncle Sam will distribute 13,000 land claims among the 165,865 persons who have registered as applicants. The lands are in the Kiowa, Comanche, and Wichita reservations.

There probably are 5,000 strangers here now, and all of the incoming trains are loaded. Several state delegations paraded the streets early this morning. It is thought that today's will be the largest of any crowd since the opening of the registration.

Commissioner Richard's clerical forces had a hard day yesterday but this morning every identification card is inclosed and all of the preliminaries are arranged for a big raffle. The platform is constructed at the foot of the hills that rise gently to the front and the right, forming a natural amphitheater.

Over 25,000 persons are gathered around the stand this morning when the boxes made their first revolutions and the first winners were determined and announced.

Who will get the claims drawn by parties who may be proved ineligible is the question that is embarrassing the officials. The opinion is that claims undisposed of at the end of the stipulated sixty days will be subject to entry by occupation under the regular land office regulations, so it is possible that after all there may be a semblance of a rush.

Method of Drawing

While the 165,865 persons who have registered during the last fifteen days have about one chance in thirteen of winning, apparently every one feels confident of being numbered among the lucky. The actual drawing is so novel that the interest is kept at the highest pitch. On the platform are oblong wheels, each fifteen feet in length, one holds the names of the applicants for homesteads in the El Reno district and the other for those in the Lawton district. Into these wheels are placed envelopes containing the names of all of the registered applicants. The envelopes first were brought to the platform in packages consecutively numbered. A corresponding series of numbers upon slips are placed in another receptacle, from which they are drawn out at random.

The packages of envelopes bearing the first number drawn will be the first to be placed in the drawing box and well distributed, when another package will be drawn and another package of envelopes distributed. This course will be continued until all of the envelopes have been placed in the box wheels which will be revolved for a sufficient length of time to insure a thorough mixing of the envelopes.

Ten Men to Draw

In each wheel there are five apertures from which the envelopes will finally be drawn. Ten men, one for each aperture, perform the actual drawing. The first envelope drawn was No. 1, which at once was opened and the identification slip which it contains was given a corresponding number, and the name and residence which appear upon the slip publicly announced. This course will be pursued, numbering each envelope and its contents consecutively, until twenty-five numbers have been drawn from one box, when an equal number will be drawn for another box in a similar manner.

After the names have been drawn and announced they will be recorded and a notice mailed to the one whose name is drawn.

Drawing May End Thursday

Only 1,000 envelopes, 500 for each district, will be drawn today. After the first day the drawing will proceed more rapidly and it is expected that the last envelope will have been drawn by Thursday night. The lucky ones will be permitted to file on a claim in the order that their numbers have been drawn from the wheels. Each applicant for a homestead has been permitted to inspect the land beforehand to select a claim in case he should be lucky enough to draw a number.

Besides the three commissioners appointed to superintend the drawing and the ten men who will draw the envelopes from the wheels, space on the platform will be reserved for the newspaper reporters.

INTERVIEW BETWEEN JESUS AND SAMARITAN WOMAN AT THE WELL

Text of the Sermon Preached by the Rev. W. W. Woodside at the Union Services Last Night.

The blessed rain which fell yesterday afternoon and last evening did worlds of good but it certainly decreased the attendance at evening church services at the Court Street M. E. church where the union services of the five evangelical churches was held, there was a small audience but the interesting sermon repaid all those who braved the downpour of rain.

Rev. Walter A. Hall, the pastor of the church, presided and Miss Ada Pond was the organist of the evening. The singing, as is customary at these services, was congregational. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church and Rev. W. W. Woodside, of the First M. E. church, the preacher of the evening read the Scripture lesson.

Rev. Woodside took for the text of his able sermon that part of the 15th verse of the 4th chapter of the Gospel according to St. John which says: "Give me this water, that thirst not, neither come hither to draw." The incident about which the sermon was built was the interview between Jesus and the Samaritan woman at the well. The speaker said he would be glad to recount a vivid word picture of the scene as an introduction to his sermon but as this was impossible he asked his hearers to imagine themselves in the Holy Land, three or four days' journey from Jerusalem. Jacob's well stood among beautiful and picturesque surroundings and all around were places of interest. Two miles away was the city of Sychar, while only two hundred yards distant was the tomb of Joseph. Near the well were the two sacred mountains where many holy incidents of early Jewish history took place.

It was in this place that Jesus stood preaching the Gospel to an audience of one, a woman who recognized him not only as a Jew and a prophet but who, before the interview was ended, knew him as a Messiah. Many of the renowned preachers and teachers have been great conversationalists and are famed for their interviews. The most wonderful interviews or personal conversations are found in the Gospels and concern Jesus, but one of the most beautiful is this interview with the Samaritan woman.

There are many suggestive thoughts to be found in this interview. From it we get the true Scriptural idea of worship. Man is always a worshipping being and in many countries he makes long journeys to sacred hills or meadows for the purpose of worship. Jesus told the world that the time was at hand when men must worship God in spirit and in truth.

In this interview one must think of Jesus not only as a Savior but as a reformer. He spoke to a woman in a public place, which was not the custom of the times. Prior to this time women were not held in esteem, polygamy was common and woman was degraded. In Rome, with its boasted civilization, a woman lost her individuality when she married and Greek women married not a husband but a master. The change for woman came with Jesus and today wherever there is thought of Jesus there is a bright change for woman-kind.

Another thought suggested by this interview is that Christ is the world's greatest need. Jesus Christ, the satisfying portion, is symbolized by the living water. God has graciously provided for our temporal and physical needs, but man may have an abundance of material goods and they will not satisfy. No man is thoroughly equipped for life until he has accepted God. The duties of this life go in an endless circle and in order to make life what it should be it must be sweetened and glorified by the Lord's continual presence with man.

From this interview man gets some conception of what God can do for man and with man. It is wonderful what God can build up out of our falten natures. He could take this ignorant and sinful woman and send her forth to tell the gospel. In reading this interview one comes to the conclusion that the woman was saved. This conclusion is supported by the facts that she testified for Jesus, confessed her sinfulness and witnessed for him. She forgot her water pitcher or her former errand, and, strongest proof of all, her life thenceforth was different.

Rev. Woodside closed his sermon with a personal appeal to those present to partake of the living water which symbolizes salvation and the meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Hall.

the bottom of one lying upon it, and so on with them all, the necessity for rolls of issue paper to prevent the creases is obviated; for constant use in traveling, cheese cloth replaces tissue paper very acceptably.

There seems to be a place and work in this world for anyone who can do one thing well. A young woman suddenly thrown upon her own resources lately applied at a hotel for permission to place her cards in the rooms, stating that she would pack ladies' trunks at a certain price per piece. A message by telephone would summon her. Before a month had elapsed her success was assured.

AN ANECDOTE OF LINCOLN.

Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, of Los Angeles a Close Neighbor, Relates It.

The following anecdote is vouched for by the editor of Leslie's monthly, who has it from a very old lady, Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, now living at Los Angeles, Cal., who was a close neighbor of the Lincoln family when they resided at Springfield, Ill.

"I can remember clearly a little incident which occurred one very hot Sunday morning in summer. It was just about the time Mr. Lincoln received the nomination for senator. My husband had gone to church alone that morning, as I was not feeling well. I was sitting at the window looking out in the street, when I espied little 'Tad' Lincoln trotting down the walk past our house as fast as his little legs could carry him. He was between two and three years of age at that time and the smartest little chap imaginable. His father had nicknamed him 'Tadpole,' soon shortened to 'Tad,' as all the neighbors knew.

"Mrs. Lincoln had gone to church leaving the children at home in charge of Mr. Lincoln, and the little fellow had escaped from the yard in some way or other. As I watched 'Tad' trotting past, I heard some one calling him from up the street. Glancing up, I saw Mr. Lincoln coming as fast as his long legs could carry him. As I have said, it was an exceedingly warm day, and people were wearing their thinnest clothes.

As long as I live I shall never forget Mr. Lincoln's appearance. He was coatless, vestless, bareheaded and barefooted. Think of it. The man who was later to be president of the United States, actually striding down the street barefooted, after his runaway child. It was the most comical sight I have ever witnessed. 'Tad' was soon overtaken, and Mr. Lincoln, grasping his rebellious son around the waist, tucked him under his long arm like a sack of meal, with his head to the rear, and started for home again. Unfortunately church services had just closed, and the streets were crowded with people, fashionably dressed, who stared in astonishment and with merriment upon the comical sight. Little 'Tad' was screaming, kicking and squirming in a vain attempt to escape. His little arms and legs were revolving in all directions and the sight of Mr. Lincoln, barefooted and half dressed, with that boy under his arm, would have sent his wife into spasms had she witnessed it. He, however, was not embarrassed in the least, but ducked and bowed right and left to acquaintances responding cheerily to their 'Why, good morning, Mr. Lincoln,' with 'How are you, Mrs. So-and-So?' or 'Fine day, Mr. So-and-So,' all the time wearing a pleasant smile, while the spectators were nearly convulsed at the sight.

A MODEL PAVEMENT

Tarred Macadam Makes a Solid Roadway, Cheap in Construction and Maintenance.

United States Consul James M. Shepard, writes from Hamilton, Ontario, of a new kind of pavement that has given good service in that city. The new pavement is of tarred macadam and the advantages claimed for it are a smooth, solid roadway and cheapness of both construction and maintenance. In the construction of the pavement a coating of gravel is rolled over a six-inch stone foundation and over the gravel a layer of tar saturated stones not exceeding two inches in diameter is rolled hard. In saturating the stones they are first thoroughly dried and then mixed with boiling tar in proportions of from eight to twelve gallons of tar to a cubic yard of stone. After the first layer has been thoroughly rolled another layer of tarred stones of the same dimensions is added, rolled and covered with a layer of gravel and quarry chips, also mixed with the tar. A top dressing of screenings is then added and the pavement finished. It is said that in Hamilton, where lime stone is abundant the pavements can be constructed at from seventy to eighty-six cents per square yard, and that the cost of repairing the pavement on heavy traffic streets is less than one cent per yard per year. The advantages claimed by the addition of the tar is that the roadway is rendered impervious to water, frost proof in winter, and that dust and mud are prevented in summer.

TOO WARM FOR NEWS SO FUNNY MEN SAY

Some Imaginary Correspondents of Chicago Papers Send in Awful Reports in Hot Weather.

During the terrible hot spell of the last days of June the imaginary correspondents of the Chicago papers sent in some awful reports. Painted Post, Nebraska, reported that the hens were laying boiled eggs; at Smilerville, Ill. the people were taking cooked fish out of Thompson's mill pond; at Hog Eye, N. D., a load of hay took fire from the reflection of the sun's rays from a plate glass window on the other side of the street; at Flagville, Kan., an ice house was destroyed by fire, starting in the middle of the 3,000-ton stock; at Two Deers, Minn., miners were sun struck while at work 200 feet below the surface, and the moon itself had become so heated that five farmers were prostrated in the evening; at Simmons Corners, Iowa, a barn containing a large quantity of pop corn exploded and completely wrecked the building.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them.

Cheney's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

A FREEPORT WOMAN SUICIDES.

Attired in Her Night Clothes She Jumps in the River and Drowns. A Freeport special says: Mrs. Katherine Steel, a popular young society woman of this city, left her home early this morning, attired in her night clothes, and jumped into the river, which runs close by the house in which she lived. Her parents believe she became crazed by the heat. The body was found in the river late this evening.

Harry Mosier has a very fine house nearly completed on Prairie avenue near Glenn street.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST
Showers tonight and cooler, fair Tuesday.

EPIGRAMMATIC.

A truth fits every other truth in the world, but a lie fits nothing but some other lie made especially for it.

If the stars should really fall to the earth and we might gather them as we do daisies, it would not be long before we would be classifying them with fireflies.

Women are queer creatures. They are daughters of men.
Men may gamble on horses but there is no temptation about a Jersey cow.

If you strike the home making idea from the Anglo-Saxon race, in a few years they would be a roving tribe of Arabs.

Many men are mocking birds in company, and catbirds at home.

Nothing great or good comes from those places where men wall out the sunlight, and call them cities.

Thank God that he has placed your head where you are not compelled to look at the grass like the ox, but can look upward to the Giver of all good and perfect gifts.

TILLMANISM.

Senator Tillman has succeeded in pitch-forking Senator McLaurin out of the state executive committee of South Carolina, but he has in no way jeopardized the position of that gentleman in the new democracy of the state.

Unwittingly Tillman has done his state and the south in general a great service. He has exposed his hand and has forced an issue which cannot be anything but favorable to his enemies, the progressive element of southern democrats. A few months ago Tillman prodded McLaurin into resigning, but the governor refused to put the state to the unnecessary expense of a special election. Whether McLaurin is called a democrat or a republican matters little, and it rests with the voters of South Carolina whether the progressive party of that state outnumber those of a different political hue.

The term of Prince George as High Commissioner of the Island of Crete, under the suzerainty of Turkey and the protection of four European powers is nearly closed, and that island has petitioned these powers to annex her to Greece.

The petition must forever be refused as it would open again a question which must be allowed to remain dormant in order to secure the peace of Europe.

The Eastern question is the most delicate for diplomats, and because of this fact the sultan of Turkey is allowed to rule the worst disciplined aggregation of outlaws and murderers modern civilization has seen. If Crete were annexed to Greece it would precipitate another Turko-Grecian war and that would result in the enlarging of the territory and power of the Turk.

The division of the Turkish empire could not be made satisfactory to all powers, so Europe is in a dilemma. She must either allow the Turk to rule his own or be entangled in a war which would sacrifice the lives of thousands, if not millions of her bravest men. Turkey rejoices in the existence of the Balkan question and regards with satisfaction the inability of all Europe to destroy her or even to materially alter her form of government so as to prevent her insults to civilized humanity. We will all bless the accident that will settle this Eastern question by blotting Turkey out of the map of Europe and Asia.

The reindeer experiments of the government in Alaska have proved successful, and the eskimo can see in that most useful animal a partial recompense for the losses they have suffered at the hands of civilized trappers and hunters who have been depriving them of their means of subsistence.

Scientists have discovered a new animal with the smallest brain known. It is not known whether they wore shirt waists and trouser cuffs or not.

Some people are so full of them selves, that we would be continually be calling the patrol wagon, if there was anything in their make-up at all intoxicating.

A month has passed and the president has not yet taken the advice of the sweet girl graduate on how to run the government. Rather discouraging.

St. Louis thinks that future candidates for head of the weather bureau should be required to submit samples with their applications.

A Council Bluffs editor proposes a Sunday school picnic as a cure for the drouth. Janesville tried that scheme and it did not work.

Dr. Koch thinks consumption is more of an idea than a reality. Perhaps that is why more people do not catch it.

Old Sol has relentlessly tanned her hide; next winter she will try to hide her tan—the summer girl.

In these days of shoddy imitations it is hard for a man to tell when he is up against the real thing.

For a man who has stood so much in his own light, Edison has been remarkably successful.

For toiling all her life the wife gets credit, while the hired girl gets cash.

THE HIRED GIRL.

She sallies forth on Sundays fine, And tells us she's back at nine: The hired girl.

When she returns it's past eleven, Next morning she sleeps till seven: The hired girl.

In fiery tones on washing day, She strikes us for a raise in pay: The hired girl.

And knowing well the chores she has shirked, She looks back sadly where she worked: The hired girl.

A Costly Funeral.

The most costly state funeral which has ever taken place was perhaps that of Alexander the Great. A round million was spent in laying Alexander to his rest. The body was placed in a coffin of gold, filled with costly aromatics, and a diadem was placed on the head. The funeral car was embellished with ornaments of pure gold and its weight was so great that it took eighty-four mules more than a year to convey it from Babylon to Syria.

Practiced Medicine Despite Opposition.

Dr. Hannah W. Longshore, the first woman to practice medicine in Philadelphia, has just celebrated her 82d birthday. She has been a physician in the Quaker city for half a century and was born there. In her youth she was a remarkably handsome woman, besides being of amazing pluck, for her early work as a doctor was accomplished in the face of constant opposition, ridicule and prejudice.

Dogs as an Index.

In Connecticut one millionaire has paid tax on 15 dogs. Bill Nye used to tell about a man who was so poor that he owned 19 dogs and he represented the low-water mark of poverty. But times have changed since Bill left us. It is only fair to add that the millionaire referred to is a great magnate. Otherwise he might be soon in the category of Nye's pauper.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Cure for Mosquito Bites.

A consular report from Paraguay affirms that naphthalene has been found there to be an excellent cure for mosquito bites. It neutralizes the poison, even when the spot bitten is greatly inflamed. If fresh bites are rubbed with naphthalene, no swelling follows. Naphthalene is considered almost a specific against mosquito poison.

Type of Polish Gentleman.

Henry Sienkiewicz, 53 years old and always faultlessly dressed, is a perfect type of the Polish gentleman. Languid in manner and slow of speech, he takes little interest in anything outside of literature, though he has done most of the things which the world offers a rich man to do. He is an inveterate smoker of strong cigars.

Had Used the Dresden.

A woman prominent in smart society recently purchased a beautiful set of Dresden china coffee cups, but the next day sent them back to the store as not quite satisfactory. A clerk, returning the fragile things to the cases, touched something sticky. Investigation proved that the cups had been used and washed carelessly.

Glycerine as a Cosmetic.

Glycerine, properly used, is an invaluable cosmetic. It whitens, softens and dissolves coloring matter when carefully combined with other agents, such as rose, elder-flower or orange water. It is very injurious used in concentrated form, as it burns, parches and yellows the skin.

Millionaire Teaches Bible Class.

Lord Overton, the millionaire peer of Glasgow, has conducted a bible class of about 500 young men in Glasgow for more than 30 years and as a preacher and evangelist he is much in demand. He is specially interested in everything that has to do with the well-being of young men, and among other things he pays a well known Scotch minister $5,000 a year to devote himself to the work of an evangelist. But he is no "namby-pamby." He is a keen fisherman, is more than a fair shot and is not to be despised at golf.

Temperatures of the Higher Air.

Recent balloon ascensions have furnished the following data: A balloon sent up at Cracow to a height of 4,000 meters (13,123 feet) registered a minimum temperature of 28.9 degrees C. (84 degrees Fahr.) A balloon from Berlin rose to 9,490 meters (31,135 feet) and registered 55 degrees C. (67 degrees Fahr.) A balloon from a point near Paris rose to 12,700 meters (41,666 feet) and registered 55 degrees C. A balloon sent up at Strasburg rose to 8,000 meters (26,247 feet) and registered 45 degrees C. (109 degrees Fahr.) Other ascensions at Vienna and Berlin gave results agreeing with the foregoing.

Readers Like an Hour-Glass.

Some readers are like the hour-glass—their reading is as the sand. It runs in and runs out, but leaves not a vestige behind. Some like a sponge, which imbibes everything, and returns it in the same state, only a little dirtier. Some like a jelly-bag, which allows all that is pure to pass away, and retains only the refuse and dregs. The fourth class may be compared to the slave of Golconda, who casting away all that is worthless, preserves only the pure gems.—Coleridge.

Town Gets Portraits.

Fairfax Courthouse, Va., has been presented recently with the portraits of distinguished men who were associated with the place in its early history, including one of Washington, which was presented by Prof. R. P. Andrews of the Corcoran Art Gallery, and one of George Mason, author of the "Bill of Rights," presented by Carl Guntheur of Washington.

Seeking Syncopeed Solace.

An eastern woman reputed to be worth a million has married a writer of ragtime songs. As it is her fourth venture she seems to be courting a change from the grand sweet song of marital life to something more skittish.—Denver Post.

A Delicate Implement.

To illustrate the absolute and delicate control of electric cranes the manager of a large iron works at Ipswich, England, during a recent engineering meeting stated that his cranes of twenty-five-ton capacity "could be started and stopped many times in an inch."

RINGLING BROS' CIRCUS TOMORROW

The Popular Show Run by Wisconsin Boys Will Draw a Big Crowd Here.

Tomorrow morning with the blast of trumpets, the beating of drums, and all the incidental excitement of circus day, Ringling Brothers and their World's Greatest Shows, will take possession of the city. The tall giraffe, the last of his species will give the small boys ample occasion to call "rubber neck" as he stalks along in solemn and lonely grandeur and holds his head high with the dignity of the knowledge that he cost his owners $20,000 and that he is cared for and looked after as no other animal in the great and valuable menagerie, is cared for, because he is the only giraffe known to exist in the entire world and when he is gone he can never be replaced. He is not the only curiosity in the menagerie, however, for the only den of black tigers ever placed on exhibition occupies a conspicuous place in the zoo. There are elephants, monkeys and horses without number, and 100 dens of wild beasts, so that a visit to the menagerie is worth more than a course of study in natural history.

The big street parade, which is a joy forever to the public will move from the show grounds and through the principal streets of the city at promptly ten o'clock. It is the best circus parade that ever excited the admiration of the crowds of spectators that throng the sidewalks to see it go by. The parade is in thirty sections and is well worth seeing. There will be instructive and entertaining features and the immortal clown will furnish fun in big chunks.

But the parade, great as it is, in ground, more area than any other and only Ringling Brothers have to offer. There will be two complete exhibitions under the great stretch of canvas which covers 12 acres of ground, more area than any other circus that is now or ever has been in existence. The name of the proprietors is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the show and it is said that he circus features are better than ever before. Among the 1,000 people necessary to give the show, 500 are star performers. There are 60 aerialists, including the world famous high wire gymnasts; 60 acrobats, including the great DaComas and arenic athletes from many European countries, thirty spectacular riders with Miss Amelia Feeley, the greatest lady rider the world has ever known; thirty elephants, twenty in one act appearing together at one time in one ring under the direction of one man, in conjunction with the internationally famous Lockhart comedy elephants; the grandest equine display the world has ever seen utilizing 500 horses and including the famous O'Brien's 61 horse act; not one clown, but forty famous funny ones; the best of bands; thrilling feats of daring and all the features which go to make a great show. Performances will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

There is every indication that an immense crowd will greet the famous Ringlings. Cheap excursions are being run from the surrounding cities and towns on the railroads and as the show only visits three cities in Wisconsin, many people from other cities will come to Janesville to see it. Tomorrow promises to be a real old-fashioned circus day with a new-fashioned up to date show.

Ringling Brothers circus has a serious problem to encounter when they come to this city. Of all the five bridges across Rock River within the city limits only one is in shape to carry the heavy weight which will be put upon them by the circus. Monterey bridge is the only one that will be safe for the heavy loaded wagons and heavy animals.

Neither Milwaukee street, Court street nor Jackson street bridges are safe for anything more than an ordinary load. Milwaukee street bridge shakes from end to end when a heavily loaded wagon crosses and the planking has been patched in a number of places where the entire flooring has given way.

It looks now as if the parade would have to be confined to one side of the river. Possibly by not having more than one elephant or one wagon, on the Milwaukee street bridge at one time they could get across safely.

FRANK SMITH IS SENT TO WAUPUN

Given One Year for Robbing Watson Hotel Boarders—Argue Prospective Avenue Case.

Frank Smith, of Chicago, the party arrested last Thursday by the police for the theft of some clothes, a watch chain and charm and fifty cents from two of Watson's restaurant boarders on Thursday last was brought before Judge Sale, acting municipal judge, this morning. He pleaded guilty to the information filed by District Attorney Jackson charging him with being guilty of larceny from a building and was sentenced to one year at hard labor in the state's prison at Waupun.

Smith said that he was twenty-eight years of age and a resident of Chicago. He had no family. His father was living in Chicago, but his mother was dead. He came to Janesville in May and worked on the St. Paul section. He could not tell why he took the things, only that he was drunk. He had money to buy what he wanted. He asked to be sent to the state reformatory at Green Bay. Sheriff Maltress took him to Waupun at 12:45 o'clock.

Taylor Team Runs Away

About ten o'clock this morning a large gray team belonging to F. A. Taylor became frightened while hitched to a scraper in the South River street yard. They started on a run up South River street and were not stopped until they had crossed both Pleasant and Milwaukee streets and had run as far north as the railroad tracks. The scraper dragging along behind made a wicked weapon smashing anything it came in contact with, however, very little damage was done.

Charming Afternoon Company

A charmingly informal afternoon company was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Frank B. Farnsworth in honor of Mrs. Twing Wiggins, of Chicago. The occasion was enjoyed by about thirty-five of Mrs. Farnsworth's lady friends who spent the afternoon hours very delightfully on the pleasant porch of her home, 209 Park Place. The time was spent at cards, seven-handed euchre being the game played, and the prize, a dainty piece of Edgerton pottery, was awarded to Miss Louise E. Williams.

After the card playing, dainty refreshments were served and soon afterward the pleasant party came to a close with expressions of pleasure with which the guests accompanied their farewells to their hosts and the guest of honor.

TO RESUME WORK ON THE STREETS

The Steam Crusher Being Erected by the City Will Soon Be in Running Order.

The city stone crusher will soon be in running order and the contractors will be able to finish up their macadamizing contracts on South Franklin, Academy and Pleasant streets, which are now torn up and in bad shape.

The residents of Pleasant street who are paying for macadamizing the street between Academy street and Center avenue are making a vigorous kick for the reason that the work instead of continuing on to Center avenue stops at the east line of Schaller and McKays' lumber yard in the center of the block. They fail to see the justice of macadamizing part of the street and leaving off the work in the middle of a block where property owned by a city official begins.

A number of the residents of this portion of the street appeared before the street assessment committee and filed protests against having the street macadamized, but could get no satisfaction. They now wish to know why the work was not carried through the block.

ANSWERED DEATH'S SUMMONS

Melissa M. Scott

Just as the morning light broke softly but brightly yesterday over the city yesterday, the glory of the eternal Sabbath dawned for Mrs. Melissa M. Scott and she entered into its perfect peace from earthly suffering. Deceased was the beloved wife of Rev. J. M. Scott and her death occurred at the family home, 217 South High street yesterday morning at six o'clock.

Mrs. Scott was an amiable, lovable woman whose practical Christianity kept her heart overflowing with kindness and her hands filled with deeds of love for others. It was while engaged in a labor of love, that of caring for sick friends, that two years ago she contracted the disease which caused her death. She had been a great sufferer for several months but she bore her pain with Christian fortitude. Lately she has known that her end was very near and has talked of it resignedly with her husband who has been her untiring attendant during her illness watching over her night and day and caring for her most devotedly. Conscious to the last and with words of comfort for those whom she left behind she passed away peacefully and quietly.

Mrs. Scott has only resided in this city about three years but in that time she surrounded herself with loving friends whose good friendship and kindly attentions gave her much pleasure during the weary months of suffering which she endured. She was a loyal member of the Congregational church and enjoyed sincerely her church life.

By her death, her husband is left to mourn the loss of a devoted helpmeet and a twelve-year-old son, left bereft, is deprived of a mother's loving care.

Funeral services will be held from the home, 217 South High street, tomorrow morning at nine o'clock. Rev. R. C. Denison will be the officiating clergyman and the burial will be at Evansville where Mrs. Scott's parents are interred.

Mrs. Susan Arrall.

The remains of the late Mrs. Susan Arrall of Chicago were brought to this city this morning, accompanied by her two daughters, Misses May and Florence Arrall, her son, John Arrall, and her sister, Miss Mary McClune. Services were held from St. Patrick's church at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Dean E. M. McGinnity officiating. The interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery, the pall bearers being Patrick Tracy, Thomas Welch, Thomas Tracy and Will Campbell.

Prospect Avenue Case

Judge Siebecker, of Madison, is engaged today in the circuit court hearing the arguments of the interested attorneys as to whether or not the injunction granted the City of Janesville by Judge J. W. Sale, restraining the St. Paul railroad company from laying its tracks across Prospect avenue should not be set aside.

There will be a main line track for the Janesville & Southeastern and one for the Mineral Point Division and the spur tracks to the warehouses under the new system and no more switching than is absolutely necessary will be done east of Pleasant street.

TRYING TO SETTLE STRIKE

Conference Is Held Between Morgan and Shaffer.

CALL EXECUTIVE MEETING.

Both Sides Are Hopeful—Head of Month. Syndicate Deals Directly with Heads of Unions and Secures All Facts Regarding Difficulty.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 29.—[Special].—As the result of a conference held on Saturday between President Shaffer and Secretary Williams of the Amalgamated association and J. P. Morgan, C. M. Schwab, and E. H. Gary a call has been issued for a meeting of the General Executive committee of the association here on Tuesday. The strike leaders take this as direct evidence that the conditions are favorable for the settlement of the strike within a week. It is certain that the conference has resulted in the establishment of a basis for new negotiations between the two contending interests. This basis is still locked up in the minds of the officials of the two organizations and will not be divulged until later this week.

If the basis is satisfactory to the General Executive committee of the Amalgamated association the conference between the association and the manufacturers will proceed at once. If, on the other hand, the basis is not what the Amalgamated association will permit to be considered as negotiable grounds the strike will be continued with the same vigor and with indefinite time for its ending. President Shaffer and Secretary Williams of the Amalgamated association returned from New York this morning. They had little to tell the public at this time.

J. Pierpont Morgan got the steel strike leaders to his office in New York without telling his associates anything about his intentions. He took the whole matter of treating with the strikers out of the hands of the managers, and decided to get at the truth for himself in his own way. Until the New York conference was over and President Shaffer and Secretary Williams were on their way back to Pittsburg it is doubtful if more than three capitalists interested in the steel trust knew anything about what was going on.

Machinists Lose the Fight.

Kenosha, Wis., July 29.—The manufacturers of this city have won a complete victory in their fight with the striking machinists. Business Agent Holmes of the tenth manufacturing district, of which Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha are a part, was in the city last night and instructed the men to return to work Monday on the ten-hour-a-day basis.

Will Hear Noted Pastors.

East Northfield, Mass., July 29.—The next great conference at Northfield will be the nineteenth general conference for Christian Workers, to be held from Aug. 1 to 16, inclusive. It will be the concluding conference of the season, in some respects the most important of the three, and promises this year to be the best attended of any previous gathering. There will be present some of the best speakers from home and abroad—Revs. G. Campbell Morgan of London, England; Samuel Chadwick of Leeds, England; C. I. Scofield, D. D., Northfield, Mass.; H. W. Pope, New Haven, Conn.; R. A. Torrey, D. D., Chicago, and others.

Two Die in Railway Wreck.

Dayton, O., July 29.—A gravel train used by the Chase Construction Company, which is superintending the construction of the traction line between this city and Troy for the Dayton and Northern Traction Company, was wrecked eight miles north of this city, resulting in two deaths and serious injury to four persons. The engine jumped the track while going down a steep grade, piling five loaded cars in a promiscuous heap alongside the road. Fourteen persons were aboard. The killed were: Orville D. Chase, Detroit, superintendent of the Chase Construction Company; W. B. Gravel, Chicago, engineer, aged 32, married.

Families Line Up for a Duel.

Memphis, Tenn., July 29.—Edwin Blalock, dead with a rifle ball through his brain; M. F. Blalock, leg broken by a bullet; Robert Wright, Sr., leg broken by bullet; Robert Wright, Jr., a fugitive from justice—such is the net result of a desperate duel with Winchester rifles which was fought last night on Norris avenue, south of the city and near Forest Hill cemetery. The tragedy grew out of a dispute between Robert Wright, Jr., and Edwin Blalock. The fathers backed up the boys and the two families lined up with rifles on neutral ground.

Negro Killed While Escaping.

Monticello, Fla., July 29.—Simon Williams, condemned to death for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Hawkins and sentenced to hang Aug. 8, made a dash for liberty. After a desperate fight, in which Deputy Sheriff R. H. Kilpatrick was badly wounded by Williams with his own pistol, the negro fled, but was shot to death. Officer Kilpatrick's wound is in the groin. His condition is critical.

Walter B. Hutton Drowned.

South Haven, Mich., July 29.—Walter Bryce Hutton of Chicago lost his life while bathing at Sleepy Hollow, near the Michigan resort. Hutton was auditor of the Illinois Steel company at South Chicago.

NEW MAINE A GREAT SHIP

Mighty Battleship to Replace the One Blown Up in Havana.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 29.—The new battle ship Maine was visited today by many navy officials.

The dimensions of the new fighting craft which is to replace the vessel blown up in Havana harbor are as follows:

Material—Steel. Length on load water line, 388 feet; breadth extreme, 72 feet 2½ inches; draft, mean, 25 feet 4 inches; displacement, 12,440 tons; full load displacement, 13,500 tons; tonnage, 7,334.27 tons; speed, 18 knots; indicated horse power, 16,000; normal coal supply, 1,000 tons; bunker capacity (coal), 2,000 tons.

Main Battery—Four 12-inch breech loading rifles, sixteen 6-inch rapid-firing guns. Secondary Battery—Six 8-inch rapid firing guns, eight 6-pounder rapid firing guns, six 1-pounder rapid firing guns, two Colt machine guns, two 3-inch rapid firing field guns, also two submerged torpedo tubes.

Water Line Belt—Aluminum thickness, 11 inches.

Turrets—Maximum thickness, 12 inches. Barbets—Maximum thickness, 12 inches. Protective Deck—Maximum thickness, 4 inches.

Complement—Officers, 35; crew, 511. Total, 546. Contract price for hull and machinery, $2,800,000.

The vessel is propelled by twin screw vertical triple expansion engines, supplied with steam from twelve Thornycroft boilers.

The armament has been arranged with a view of not "overbattering" the vessel and at the same time allowing sufficient for a vessel of this class.

The twelve-inch guns are arranged in pairs, two guns in each of the High-born balanced turrets, capable of being revolved at the rate of 360 degrees per minute, while the six-inch guns form a rapid-fire broadside battery.

The rate of ammunition supply controlled by electric motors will be for six-inch guns, six rounds per minute; six-pounder guns, thirty rounds per minute, and 1-pounder guns at the rate of 100 rounds per minute, illustrating the terrible execution of this type of vessel.

Yacht Captured—Saved from Lake. Chicago, July 29.—Henry D. Hatch, principal of the Chicago Lawn School, and three guests had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon when their yacht, the Black Cat, was capsized off Seventy-third street. After clinging to the hull of the boat for over half an hour the four men, thoroughly exhausted, were rescued by the Jackson Park life-saving crew.

FASHION DICTATES THE BABY'S DRESS

Clothes for the Little Ones Are Becoming More Suitable, and the Pins Are Fewer.

From the earliest moment of the baby girl's existence fashion plays a certain part in the arrangement of her belongings. The daintiest of baby clothes are prepared for her arrival, lovely long frocks, marvels of needlework and fine lace, skirts pretty enough for dresses, gowns embroidered and feather stitched in the most intricate patterns, quaint little dressing gowns and cunning sacques. All these things belong to the baby's trousseau.

Even at her christening the fairy god mother appears, and, if invisible, is none the less powerful, for she endows the infant with many a charm, and if she be a very wise and up-to-date fairy she will see to it that the little one is favored with the gift of style. Just what style is no one is quite able to say. It has an elusive quality which defies description. It is almost impossible to reduce it to a definition. In literature it is perhaps something more definite.

There is an intangible something, a charm, a gift, a something feminine and attractive outside of the bare fact of well made clothes and stunning headgear, apart from Paris frocks and dainty accessories of the toilet. Over and above these is style.

It begins to show its presence early. The baby girl shows it in the way she carries her tiny figure. In the poise of her pretty head, in the movements of her delicate body, and if this personal charm is rendered more pronounced by the proper selection of clothing the effect produced are well worth the trouble. Fashion dictates to a great degree even what clothes the baby shall wear. Fortunately the small damsel who belongs to the new century, for many woes are spared her. Clothes are becoming more suitable. More good sense is displayed in the manufacture of the pretty things which are to add to the loveliness of the baby; simpler gowns, less cumbersome wrappings, more freedom and fewer pins fall to the lot of the modern infant.

The display of infant clothing is always a fascinating one. There is something about the dainty little articles of wearing apparel which appeals strongly to most women. What does the latest decree relative to baby wear impress upon the public mind? The strongest and most suggestive note is simplicity. Not the simplicity of cheapness, but of perfection. Never have infants' clothes been more beautiful than of late years, but they have depended principally upon beauty of material—sheer, fine Persian lawns and delicate nainsooks—upon the fineness of the laces and embroideries which form the trimmings and upon the exquisite needlework displayed.

There are no longer gowns three yards in length loaded down with elaborate embroideries. There are now quite short frocks falling eight or ten inches below the baby's feet, thin as lawn can be and trimmed with just enough lace and embroidery to give an appearance of richness. What is lacking in the amount of trimming is amply compensated for by the lovely hemstitching, the fine feather stitching, which in a dozen different designs is exhibited on every seam and between each cluster of tucks. The petticoats are almost as fine as the dresses and show the same decorations. The flannels are lovely, soft and light in weight. They exhibit floral patterns worked in, white embroidery, silk, in satin stitch or rich clusters of grapes and leaves, the satin stitch serving for the grapes, the sleeves being worked in tiny French knots, in long and short sutch, in Kensington or in solid effects.

Some lovely skirts may be made of the silk flannel by using a fine Torchon lace insertion headed by narrow tucks, each featherstitched; above each cluster of tucks runs a vine of tiny leaves and blossoms all in feather stitch.

A skirt of this kind must be made to order and is expensive to buy, but it wears so well that economy is secured in its durability. From the simple morning slip to the elaborate christening gown there is but a step. The materials are equally good in each, but the latter shows lace in great quantities, nothing being prettier, more effective or more serviceable than the patent Valenciennes, which looks well and washes better than almost any other lace.

The articles in which novelty is displayed are those which belong to the luxuries of the baby's toilet. The prettiest gifts for a baby are to be found in these articles. Very dainty are the comfortable wrappers of soft India silk, shell pink in color, lightly wadded with lamb's wool, and tufted with tiny ribbon bows. The kimona is reproduced in some of these wrappers, while in others the simpler forms of loose coat are preserved. Soft little sacques are made of the same materials, sometimes embroidered with tiny blossoms, sometimes lace edged or ribbon trimmed. All the lovely pastel shades are admissible, but pale blues and pinks seem the colors for baby's wear.

For carriage robes and for christening cloaks the richest silks and brocades are in evidence, while the lace used in trimming the coats is such as might be used on the afternoon gowns of the mamma. Renaissance, Russian and Arabian laces in the white or delicate cream shades appear as deep collars or full capes, embroidery and even rich white passementeries are used on the long cloaks, while for the short coats Russian models are employed and bengaline silks play an important part.

Some of the little caps are entirely of fine lace, while in other cases lace and embroidery alternate, while plisse chiffon or tulle ruchings with a smart bow of ribbon and a cluster of tiny rose buds or pretty forget-me-nots gives the touch of color.

When the baby girl arrives at the distinction of short clothes the same modes are in vogue, with the exception that the walking length skirts prevail and the coats begin to partake more of a grown-up character. The Russian belted model becomes a favorite and wools and broadcloths compete with silk and brocade. A more decided dash of color begins to appear and red coats, with black braiding or black fur trimmings, green broadcloths and blue Venetians begin to be considered quite proper. When the wee damsel begins her school days the styles again change slightly, though wash frocks are retained as long as possible. From this point on to young ladyhood the clothes vary but little.

In the wash frocks which are pretty made with separate white guimpes, or in the Russian blouse effect with trimmings of embroidery bands and the sailor suits of wash goods or woolsens, a similarity of style exists, yet these are all regulated by a strict fashion, and there are many shops which make a specialty of furnishing children's wear exclusively, so important a matter has it come to be in the general economy of things domestic.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Business Man's Duty to the Municipality

By Henry B. Chamberlin,
Asst. Sec. Chicago Municipal Voters' League.

citizens desire. WE GET ALL TO WHICH WE ARE ENTITLED: We are paid the interest on our investment. If WE GIVE, WE RECEIVE.

The duty of the business man is to give sufficiently, not necessarily of his money, but of his time and activity to make the investment worth while.

Under our election scheme the majority is the government, and therefore the government mirrors its desires and its deserts.

If men but realized this and acted upon it, we would have LESS FAULTFINDING, LESS CRITICISM, LESS CHRONIC CROAKING AND MORE INTELLIGENT ACTION.

The citizen who takes no active part in the election of municipal officers and then presumes to criticize our municipal government merits the same punishment as was meted out to the "scolds" of our Puritan ancestors.

If complaint be made that a municipality has not so good a government as it deserves, answer may be made that it is as good as the majority of its citizens deserve.

If the government of the municipality is filled with trickery, lying, deceit and dishonesty. If its official life appears to be conceived in iniquity and reared in sin. If this be so it is because a majority of its citizens are made up of tricksters, liars, deceitful and dishonest men who prefer to tolerate their vices rather than to sacrifice their desires, be they their personal ease and comfort or their party's preferment.

ACTION!

This is the keynote.

The business man who votes on election day, but never at a primary, is not a sovereign citizen; he is merely an AUTOMATIC PUPPET recording the will of the machine. By his own criminal act of omission he registers himself not a sovereign, but a serf.

Ask the business man his duty to his family, his banker, his creditor or his customer, and he will have a ready answer. Good business men will not vary much in their definition.

When it comes to the business man's relations to the municipality in which he resides, if he admits that he has any duty at all, he defines it on such narrow lines that THE EXERCISE OF IT WILL NOT PROVE A SOURCE OF INCONVENIENCE.

Instead of attending to the caucuses and primaries of his party he abdicates in favor of the office-holding, public-contracting crowd, better citizens perhaps than he, although many of them consider public office a private snap and will nominate any good fellow who will give them satisfactory personal assurances.

The business man folds the drapery of his righteousness about him and thanks the Lord that he is not as other men, even these politicians.

ACTION!

This is the duty of the business man.

He must inform himself concerning men and measures. He must act, if he would command that influence to which he is entitled. And this action must be taken early, fairly and constantly, so that his party shall voice the best sentiment and nominate the best men in the community.

The representative government has replaced the true democracy of the town meeting and with a lessened direct responsibility on the part of the citizen who is disposed to shirk altogether.

This is the duty of the business man to the municipality.

We need a little of that prosaic criticism which will fill the office of postmaster with the dignity of a president. We need the action on the part of the business man which will enable the municipality to so enlarge the bounds of home so as to include within it the ward, the school district and the city.

It is not necessary that the business man contribute much money. It is essential that he invest his influence, not for the welfare of his family alone, but for the greatest good and for the greatest number.

Henry Barrett Chamberlin.

Married Men Are Not Bashful

By Kennett F. Harris,
Author of "The Woman and the Serpent."

CASES OF BASHFULNESS ARE RARE AMONG MARRIED MEN.

When the farmer's wife stumbles upon a nest of eggs deserted by a hysterical hen who has been "broken up" by some one of the inextinguishable emotions that militate against maternity she also makes a discovery. But its age detracts from its value.

Of course married men are not bashful. There is no reason under the sun why they should be. Every reason why they should not be.

Bashfulness is a disease, caused by a mental condition arising from a mistaken idea of self-importance, and YOUNG MEN ARE PARTICULARLY SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT.

When a young man labors under the impression that he "KNOWS IT ALL, and then some," it is natural that he should believe that when he speaks the company that may happen to be assembled must hang upon his words with breathless interest.

HE thinks that people are waiting eagerly for pearls of eloquence and wisdom to drop from HIS lips. He has the wisdom and the eloquence, but there are times when they will not out.

This causes his hands and feet to swell abnormally and large hot beads of perspiration to stand out on his brow and trickle down his nose. A roseate flush overspreads his countenance at the same time, and if there is anything breakable around it is well to remove it.

It is not UNTIL MAN IS MARRIED TO A LARGE AND SELF-ASSERTIVE WOMAN that he realizes thoroughly what a speck and mote in the plan of creation, what an humble, vile worm he is, and therefore holds up his head and is not ashamed.

Kennett F. Harris.

CATARRH

A Constitutional Affection.

Sprays, washes, powders, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes, however long and persistently used, do not cure Catarrh. They relieve temporarily the inflammation in the throat and nose, and enable you to breathe more easily and freely; but the continual rush of impure blood to these parts keeps up the irritation and ultimately produces ulceration of the glands, when the breath becomes exceedingly offensive and the soft bones of the nose are frequently destroyed. The catarrhal inflammation extends over the entire surface of the mucous membrane, or inner skin; the stomach, kidneys and lungs are often involved; the whole system soon becomes affected by the rapid absorption of poisonous matter into the blood, and the disease that you had hoped to cure with simple local remedies, assumes a dangerous form.

I had Catarrh about 15 years, and tried during that time everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. At last I came to the conclusion that Catarrh must be a blood disease, and decided to give S. S. S. a trial. I could see a little improvement from the first bottle, and continued it three or four months, or until I was cured. Have not taken anything for six years, and am just as well as I ever was.—M. MATSON, Lapeer, Mich.

I had Catarrh so bad I was entirely deaf in one ear, and all the inside of my nose and part of the bone sloughed off. The physicians gave me up as incurable. I determined to try S. S. S., and began to improve at once. It seemed to get at the seat of the disease, and after a few weeks' treatment I was entirely cured, and for more than seven years have had no sign of the disease.—MRS. JOSEPHINE POLHILL, Due West, S. C.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease—a blood disease which is frequently inherited, and only a blood medicine, such as S. S. S., can remove the hereditary taint, destroy the poisons that have been accumulating in the system for years perhaps, and restore the blood to a healthy and pure condition. The inflamed membranes and diseased glands are healed by the rich, pure blood which is carried to them, and the offensive discharges from the nose, and the terrible headache and neuralgic pains cease. Chronic cases of the most desperate character and apparently hopeless, have been cured completely and permanently by the use of S. S. S.

Write our physicians fully about your case and they will cheerfully assist you by their advice. We charge nothing whatever for this service. Book free on application.

NOTICE!

Now that the wall paper rush is over, we are better able than ever to care for your wants. The treatment of wall papers nowadays differs widely from the old-fashioned methods. They are adjusted to the walls and their surroundings with the same care for artistic effect that the artist gives when applying his colors to the canvas. Floral designs are cut out and applied with all the effectiveness of a mural painting; striped designs are prettily mitred and made to yield a much handsomer effect than their cost would intimate. Inexpensive papers for bedrooms are handled in many ingenious ways; for example, rooms with low ceilings are made to look higher, or by another treatment the reverse effect is produced. Such work, of course, must be done by experts; and we employ skilled artists and designers to assist our customers in making selections and give helpful advice on all subjects referring to interior decoration.
